

New Singapore Hub Positions US Capital Global for Asia-Pacific Expansion

With a strategic presence in Singapore, US Capital Global enhances its Asia footprint and drives stronger cross-border capital market partnerships.

SAN FRANCISCO, MARCH 2026 – US Capital Global, a premier full-service global private financial group, is pleased to announce the opening of a new office in Singapore as part of the firm’s continued global growth strategy. The new office will serve as the group’s principal hub in Asia, strengthening its ability to support clients and partners across the region. Headquartered in San Francisco, US Capital Global maintains an international presence across major financial centers including Philadelphia, Miami, New York, London, Zurich, and Dubai. The firm specializes in corporate finance, asset management, and capital formation services for the middle market.

“We are delighted to open an office in Singapore,” said Jeffrey Sweeney, Founder and Chairman of US Capital Global. “Singapore has emerged as one of the world’s leading financial and technology hubs. Its strong regulatory framework, deep capital markets, and strategic position as a gateway between Asia and global markets make it an ideal location for expanding our presence in the region.”

The expansion into Singapore reflects the firm’s focus on strengthening its global reach and enhancing collaboration with partners and investors throughout Asia. The new office will be led by Akshay Mehra, Managing Director and Senior Managing Partner at US Capital Global, who will serve as the regional anchor for the firm’s operations in Asia. The Singapore office will support senior bankers, including Michael Silberberg, Keith Koo and Jack Maple, as they expand the firm’s reach across Asia-Pacific.

“Singapore plays an increasingly central role in the evolving global financial landscape,” said Charles Towle, Co-Founder and Managing Partner of US Capital Global. “Its sophisticated financial ecosystem, strong compliance standards, and deep connectivity across Asia make it an excellent base for supporting companies seeking both growth capital and strategic financial solutions. Establishing our presence there allows us to work more closely with regional partners and clients.”

Singapore has become a vibrant hub for innovation and investment, drawing a wide range of technology companies, fintech innovators, and venture-backed startups. Major global technology firms including Google, Microsoft, Amazon, Meta, and Apple maintain significant regional operations in the city-state, while fast-growing platforms such as Grab and Sea Group are headquartered there.
